TRIBUNE PRINTING CO., CHARLESTON, W. VA.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

Charleston, W. Va., September 1, 1914.

TO THE HONORABLE H. D. HATFIELD, Governor,
Charleston, West Virginia.

SIR:

Pursuant to section 19, chapter 1, Acts of the Legislature, 1913, I have the honor to submit herewith the Report of The Adjutant General, for the period of twenty-one months ending June 30, 1914. Brigadier General Charles D. Elliott was The Adjutant General during the entire time covered by this report, which is made up from the records in this office.

JOHN C. BOND,
The Adjutant General.

THE WEST VIRGINIA NATIONAL GUARD

The West Virginia National Guard consists of two complete regiments of infantry, with officers of the medical corps and sanitary troops attached. Both regiments are recognized as complying with the requirements of the War Department, as prescribed through the Division of Militia Affairs. New companies have been organized as follows: Company C, First Infantry, Buckhannon; Company E, First infantry, Piedmont; Company B, Second Infantry, Ravenswood; Company K, Second Infantry, Welch.

Reports for 1909-10 and 1911-12.

The reports of The Adjutant General for the biennial periods of 1909-10 and 1911-12 were not published.

Active Service.

At the time of the last biennial report almost the entire force of the West Virginia National Guard was engaged in active field duty, in parts of Boone, Fayette, Kanawha and Raleigh counties, where a state of war was proclaimed to exist. The first troops were called into service for that duty in July, 1912, and some part of the National Guard was in the field on account of that condition almost continuously until June, 1914. Speaking of that service, Adjutant General Elliott, in his last report, said:

"It is a source of great satisfaction to state that both officers and enlisted men, in the main, have performed their duties with great efficiency. This service has transformed them from what might be termed 'raw militiamen' into seasoned veterans, ever ready for any field duty for which they might be called upon. It is thought that at the present time no state in the Union could send into the field as well trained, well seasoned and well equipped an organization as the National Guard of West Virginia. This service has been the means of eliminating all those who are not physically able to perform the duties of a soldier in the field and has also eliminated a few lukewarm officers who have not kept abreast with National Guard work that has been carried on since the rendition of my last report."

General Conditions.

Conditions generally in the West Virginia National Guard are good. There has been a marked increase in efficiency among the officers and enlisted men, and a greater interest is being taken by them in the performance of their military duties. Most of the clothing, arms and other equipment are new. A new supply of tentage has been furnished to the entire organization, and it is thought the two regiments will compare favorably with those of any other state.

WAR DEPARTMENT,

Division of Militia Affairs,
Washington.

January 22, 1913.

From: The Chief, Division of Militia Affairs.

To: The Adjutants General of the several States, Territory or Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

Subject: Small-Arms Firing, Organized Militia.

I am directed by the Secretary of War to transmit herewith for the information and guidance of all concerned, an extract from the Small-Arms Firing Manual, now undergoing revision, which prescribes the courses in rifle and pistol firing which have been adopted for the Organized Militia. These courses have received the approval of the Secretary of War, and should be followed this year.

A. L. MILLS,

Brig. Gen. General Staff,

For Chief of Staff.

(Part V.)

Courses for Organized Militia.

The following courses in Small-Arms Firing are prescribed for the Organized Militia.

General Scheme.

Par. 317. The general scheme of instruction for the Organized Militia embraces: First, a certain amount of instruction in the preliminary drills and exercises, followed by gallery practice, with a prescribed test before the soldier can be advanced to practice on the target range: Second, a definite course of instruction practice, under which, by selected scores of five shots each, a soldier must attain a certain proficiency before he can be advanced to fire the record practice, Organized Militia, or the Qualification Course, Regular Army: Third, a definite test, either the Qualification Course, Organized Militia, or the Qualification Course, Regular Army, at the discretion of the State authorities, under which the soldier attains a certain grade in marksmanship: Fourth, Long Range Practice.

Preliminary Drills and Instruction.

Par. 318. (a) The periods for indoor instruction will be determined by the State authorities and may extend into or include the entire range practice season:

(b) The essentials of indoor instruction will include:

Nomenclature, covering the most important parts and elements.

Manipulation and use of the various working parts.

Care of the arm.

Gallery practice.

Sighting, aiming, positions, and trigger squeeze.

The course to be followed in indoor instruction is laid down in Part II chapters, 1, 2, 3, 4; but in the discretion of the State authorities, any course embracing the elements given above may be adopted and followed. The recording rifle rod outfit or any other suitable device may be used in such a course.

Gallery Practice.

Par. 319. The principal objects of gallery practice are to continue in a different manner, the instruction in aiming, positions, and trigger squeeze, and to determine, in certain cases, whether or not the individual shall be advanced to range practice:

(a) The following course in gallery practice is prescribed:

TABLE 1.

Range (feet)	Targets.	Position.	Minimum Number of Shots.
50	The iron gallery target issued by the Ordnance De- partment or one similar thereto, or paper targets.	Prone	10
50		(Sitting	10 (5 Sitting
		(Kneeling	(5 Kneeling
50		Standing	10

Where it is impracticable to use ranges of fifty feet, gallery practice may be conducted at a greater distance at a target whose dimensions and divisions have been proportionately increased. Firing will be by scores of five consecutive shots. Except in case of accident, a score once begun will be completed.

Qualification in Gallery Practice.

(b) No officer or enlisted man who has failed to qualify as first-class or better in a previous season shall be advanced to range practice until he has attained at least 90 points out of a possible 150 in the gallery practice course, by selecting his two best scores of five shots at each range. If a gallery range be not available, the recording rifle rod outfit or sub target gun machine may be used to determine eligibility for range practice under similar conditions, when specially authorized by the State authorities.

Known Distance Firing.

Par. 320. The Qualification Course is divided into Instruction Practice and Record Practice.

(a) Instruction Practice embraces :

1. A prescribed course in which a certain proficiency must be attained in certain cases, before qualification practice is undertaken ; this course may be shot through as many times as is necessary to insure proper instruction.

2. Such further preliminary practice at any range as is considered necessary to prepare the individual for the Record Practice.

3. Firing for recruits may be held at 100 yards in any position except standing, but does not count in determining proficiency in the instruction practice.

(b) The Instruction Practice and the number of shots at each range upon which eligibility to advance to Qualification Practice is determined are given in the following table :

The choice of qualification courses shall be determined by the State authorities. Both courses may be pursued in the same State in the same season, but the course in regiments or in separate smaller tactical units shall be uniform; provided that an individual who qualifies in the Qualification Course Organized Militia as sharpshooter or expert rifleman, may be permitted to fire the Regular Army Qualification Course and qualify therein at the discretion of the State authorities.

General Orders.

No. 7.

The following Bulletin of Militia Notes referring to Sergeant-Instructors is published for the guidance of the Officers of the National Guard of this State.

By Command of THE GOVERNOR,
C. D. ELLIOTT,
Adjutant General.

BULLETIN OF MILITIA NOTES, ISSUED BY THE DIVISION OF MILITIA
AFFAIRS, WAR DEPARTMENT, FOR THE YEAR 1913.

February 1, 1913.

7. No bulletin was issued on January 16, 1913.

8. The question having been raised as to what constitutes 75 per cent of duty for eligibility of the Organized Militia to participate in national competitions, the following is announced as the decision of the War Department:

(a) There must have been 75 per cent of attendance both at garrison and field instruction.

(b) Twelve months continuous service immediately preceding the national competition is required for participation therein.

(c) Where encampments, maneuvers, field exercises, or schools—in fact, any class of military duty—are required by a State, seventy-five per cent of such duty must have been performed in order to qualify for participation in a competition.

(d) Each class of duty must be considered by itself. There can be no substitution or interchange.

9. In a number of instances requests have been made, frequently by telegram, for the immediate relief of sergeant-instructor on duty with the Organized Militia. In many of these instances, investigation has developed the fact that these sergeant-instructors have been delinquent in their duties for extended periods, and in some cases have been guilty of misconduct for which they should have been, and had they been with their regiments would have been, promptly court martialed and punished. Seldom has it been found, however, that the officers of the organizations to which they were attached, who were immediately concerned and were cognizant of their misdeeds, would consent to proceed against the delinquents, although the desire of the War Department to bring them to trial had been communicated to the Adjutant General of the State concerned.

This attitude on the part of the officers, while generous and commendable from a personal point of view, and while thoroughly appreciated by the War Department, represents, nevertheless but one side of the question, and the other side is the one which it is desired herein to bring to the attention of those concerned.

The aim of the Government is to send a picked personnel from its enlisted strength to perform the important work designed for the sergeant-instructors. There is much good material for such selection throughout the service in all of its branches, and as a rule it is believed that the results show the care with which the selections are made. However, mistakes will occur in this as in every other transaction, and occasionally weak or even vicious characters may slip into these details, and when this happens it is to the interest not only of the State organizations, but to the Federal Government itself, that the character of such a detail shall be discovered and reported as soon as possible with a view to his replacement by a worthy soldier.

It is urgently desired, therefore, that such cases should be reported immediately upon their development, and the Department expresses the hope that the officers concerned, in the future will not only report such cases but will assist in the prosecution of the offenders when requested to do so.

The publication of the above views of the War Department to commanding officers of organizations is requested.

10. The question having been asked by a number of States as to the proper procedure in connection with the consolidation of the Quartermaster's Subsistence and Pay Departments, it may be stated that these Departments should be consolidated into a corps known as the "Quartermaster Corps," the officers of the several departments being transferred thereto and designated as the officers of the Quartermaster Corps by the titles of rank held by them upon that date. General Orders, No. 33, War Department, series of 1912, will afford a guide as to the organization of such corps and the designations of officers. The proper staff for divisions and brigades is under consideration by a board of officers at the War Department and will be prescribed as soon as a decision is arrived at.

This will be done by having the thirty making the highest aggregates in the Davis Trophy Match, and all others who have made the grade of expert in the record practice this season, who wish to enter, shoot over the National Match Course twice, after which all will be eliminated, except the twenty-five making the highest aggregate. These will then shoot over the same course twice, and the team will be composed of the fifteen making the highest aggregate in the four courses.

12. No one is eligible to compete for the State Rifle Team who has not done 75% of military duty during the past year.

13. The rules governing the National Matches as published in Bulletin No. 3, War Department, c. s., will govern the matches and competition.

14. Experts who desire to compete for the State Rifle Team will report to the Executive Officer at Camp Dawson in the evening of July 28th.

15. Payrolls will be made in quadruplicate, two copies of which must be signed. D. & A. cards will accompany payrolls.

16. No member of any command will be paid for any day if he shall have been absent from the formations of that day, except for sickness.

General Orders

No. 39.

The period for armory training and theoretical instruction for officers and enlisted men of the National Guard of this State for the ensuing school year, will be from November 3, 1913, to April 30, 1914, and will comprise the following:

DRILL.

The exact methods of the execution of the manual of arms, positions, marchings, signals, firings and ceremonies are given in parts one, three and five of the Infantry Drill Regulations.

Strict compliance with every detail must be enforced.

The principal object of close order drill is to secure close attention to orders, submission to authority and compliance with orders in the exact manner that is intended by those issuing them. Close order drill without snap and without observance of small details of the movements, is not beneficial, but harmful to the individual, the squad, the company and the battalion.

Men should not be advanced from elementary to other work before they have mastered the former. On the other hand, interest must not be lost through requiring a well drilled man to weekly repeat movements with which he is already familiar.

The principal part of each drill, after a short review of the elementary work, will be devoted to drill in extended order and on each drill night non-commissioned officers will be given an opportunity to drill squads in extended order formation, using signals only.

The later part of each drill, about fifteen minutes only, should be devoted to a short, sharp, snappy, close order drill under charge of the company commander.

Instruction in bayonet exercise will also be included in this year's armory training.

Drill returns will be submitted promptly.

2. SCHOOL FOR NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS AND SELECTED PRIVATES.

In each company all non-coms. and such privates as the company commander desires to detail, with a view to their future value as non-coms., will be given one hour's instruction weekly. This school will be under the immediate supervision of the company commander and the senior officer present will conduct the school.

The course will be as follows:

November and December 1913, I. D. R., 1911, pp. 9-47.

January, February and March, 1914, Manual for Privates of Infantry, pp. 7-17, 22-25, (including plate opposite pp. 22), 105-120, 147-179.

April to be announced later.

At the conclusion of the course in each subject, each student will be given a written examination, for which questions will be selected by the company commander from those furnished him from this office. Certificates of proficiency will be issued to all non-coms. and selected privates entitled to them, which certificates will excuse the holders from future recitations in these subjects.

A report of the progress of this school will be forwarded to this office at the end of each month. This report will show the names of those composing the class, the attendance of each during the month and the progress made by each student.

Further instructions for the conduct of the examinations will be published from this office.

SCHOOL FOR OFFICERS.

All Officers of Infantry of the National Guard of West Virginia will take the prescribed course of instruction for this year as the first of a two years course of instruction.

Officers will be divided into two classes as follows:

First Class, which will include all field officers and regimental staff officers.

Second Class, which will include all company officers and battalion staff officers.

At each station the senior officer present will conduct the school and act as instructor for the second class, except that at stations where there are two or more of the first class the senior will act as instructor for that class and the senior officer of the second class will act as instructor for the second class.

The course for the first class will be as follows:

November and December, 1913, I. D. R., 1911, parts two and three.

January, February, March and April, 1914, F. S. R., Article two to nine, inclusive (omitting tables).

The course for the second class will be as follows: November and December, 1913, and January, 1914, I. D. R., 1911 from school of the company, page 45, to part three, page 141.

February, March and April, F. S. R., Articles two, three, four, five and nine.

Reports showing names of members of each class, attendance of each member of class and progress, will be submitted to this office at the end of each month by each instructor.

At the completion of each subject, written examination on that subject will be conducted at each station. Questions and further instructions for examinations will be furnished from this office.

The course prescribed will be taken by all officers mentioned in the above classification.

Certificates of proficiency will be issued from this office to those obtaining not less than seventy per cent in the written examinations.

Officers obtaining not less than ninety per cent in the written examinations will receive special mention in orders.

Certificates of proficiency in any subject will exempt those obtaining them from further school examinations in these subjects, and will be accepted by examining boards for promotion as exempting from further examination in those subjects as follows:

Those having ninety per cent or more, five years.

Those having eighty-five to eighty-nine per cent, inc., four years.

Those having eighty to eighty-four per cent, inclusive, three years.

Those having seventy-five to seventy-nine per cent, inc., two years.

The adoption of new drill regulations, or F. S. R. will invalidate certificates pertaining to such regulations.

4. At stations where sufficient officers can be assembled for the purpose, map maneuvers and tactical walks will be conducted once per month by the Inspector Instructor.

Officers will be notified from this office later as to dates for these exercises. Per diem not allowed.

5. Officers are requested to communicate direct with the Inspector Instructor concerning all matters of school work.

By Command of THE GOVERNOR.

General Orders

No. 40.

It is with profound sorrow that the death of former Adjutant General John W. M. Appleton is announced to the officers and enlisted men of the Guard, and to the citizens generally, which sad event occurred at his home at Salt Sulphur Springs, Monroe county, West Virginia, this date.

General Appleton was an honest, upright and patriotic citizen, and at all times, whether as a private or an officer, served honestly and faithfully, thereby performing his duties with marked efficiency and especial consideration for the welfare of his subordinates.

His record in connection with military organizations was long and honorable and useful. Being a native of Massachusetts, his first connection with a military body was with the Independent Corps of Cadets, Massachusetts State Troops, as private, from 1859 to February 7th, 1863; discharged by entering the United States service May 26th, 1862 to July 2nd, 1862, as a private in the 5th Company First Battalion, Independent Corps of Cadets, Mass. Volunteer Infantry; February 7th, 1863, Second Lieutenant, 54th Mass. Vol. Infy.; Captain Company A, April 14th, 1863; severely wounded in action, assault on Fort Wagner, Charleston Harbor, S. C., July 18th, 1863; took part in actions on James Island, S. C., in siege of Charleston, S. C.; Georgia and Florida campaigns in 1863 and 64. Wounded in second action on James Island July 2nd, 1864; sent home, (to die) September 1864. Resigned on account of injuries, November 1864; partially recovered and re-entered the service as Major, commanding First Battalion, Massachusetts Heavy Artillery, March 18th, 1865; resigned August the 5th, 1865, close of war.

General Appleton's record in the West Virginia National Guard is as follows:

General Orders

No. 41.

1. The following ruling by the Secretary of War is announced:

"In order to comply with section 18 of the Militia Law it is necessary that a roster of officers and enlisted men be kept showing their attendance at every drill assembly. This roster must be submitted to the inspector. It would appear if the company roll books included the names of the officers and if they showed their attendance by name, as well as that of each enlisted man of the company, at every drill or assembly they would make a satisfactory record in compliance with section 18 of the Militia Law.

There would be no objection to keeping a morning report book in addition to this roll book.

The morning report does not show by name the attendance of individuals at drills or assembly, and is therefore not a sufficient record."

2. Participation in Federal funds depending upon the compliance with section 18 of the Militia Law, all organization commanders are directed to prepare and keep a roster of officers and enlisted men, in strict conformity with the above ruling. The form of compliance is left with the organization commanders, but it must be complied with, or Federal support will be withheld and forfeited.

3. Companies must assemble for drill or instructions at least 24 times a year, with a minimum number of one officer and 35 enlisted men. If this minimum is not present at any drill, it can be arranged by counting two drills as one, when the aggregate equals 35 or more, provided there are 35 different men present. The total must be equal to 35 men 24 drills.

4. The following was recommended by the National Militia Board, and approved by the Secretary of War, and is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

"To constitute field or service camp of instruction, there must be present the following minimum: two officers and thirty-eight enlisted men. Previous to such encampment, enlisted men must have had 60 days' service in the Organized Militia, including at least 14 periods of practical progressive military instruction of at least one and one-half hours each, or an equivalent service in the Regular Army, Navy or Marine Corps or one academic year's service at a school where military instruction is given."

5. Attention is invited to General Orders No. 4, Jan. 24th, 1913, Paragraph 3, page one, the period for indoor target practice closes May 1st, at, or previous to which, company commanders will submit report.

Paragraph 319, (b), page 4, "No officer or enlisted man who has failed to qualify as first class or better, in a previous season shall be advanced to range practice until he has attained at least 90 points out of a possible 150 in the gallery practice course."

General Orders

No. 44.

The attention of all concerned is invited to the following from General Orders number thirty-eight (G. O. No. 38), A. G. O., dated November 29, 1911:

1. The following recruiting system has been adopted by the Secretary of War:

An Officer of each local organization will be designated as recruiting officer for war. He will keep himself informed of all of the requirements of his office and he will, by application to the Adjutant General of the State, Territory or District secure the necessary blank forms.

In their annual inspections, federal inspectors will report whether or not local organizations are required to meet the requirements of this paragraph.

When a local organization is called into the service of the United States, its recruiting officer will at once begin to recruit the same up to war strength.

When the organization goes to the state mobilization camp the recruiting officer will remain behind with a suitable detail of enlisted men and continue recruiting, forwarding all recruits to the state mobilization camp. The recruiting officer and his party will rejoin their proper organizations before the latter leaves the mobilization camp.

Each regiment and separate battalion will, before it leaves its State, Territory or District, establish a recruiting party to recruit for its organization during the continuance of war.

A general recruiting party for all militia organizations of the State, Territory or District, will be maintained at the State mobilization camp.

All recruits will be forwarded through the State mobilization camp where they will be thoroughly examined physically, fully armed and equipped, and instructed as far as time permits.
